1. What is the purpose of the Provost Undergraduate Student Advisory Board?
The Provost’s Undergraduate Student Advisory Board was created in 2007 to provide feedback on programs, policies, and initiatives established or supervised by the Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education.

2. What do members of the Provost’s Undergraduate Student Advisory Board do?
The Advisory board is a group of diverse undergraduate students who volunteer to serve as advisors to the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs & Provost. They aim to accurately portray the current realities of the undergraduate experience by articulating the highlights and challenges of being a student at the university. As representatives of the undergraduate population at Illinois, their objective is to convey what could make a successful undergraduate student experience. Board members aim to ensure that fostering an inclusive environment and students' sense of belonging is critically addressed by providing meaningful recommendations to the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs & Provost and the Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education.

3. What is the time commitment?
The Advisory board meets bi-weekly throughout the academic year. The purpose of each meeting is to provide wholistic updates about on-going projects, discuss concerns relative to inequities at the university and implementation aspects of the Student Success Initiative. Meetings will also consist of hearing from guest speakers and engaging in community building activities.

4. What are the benefits of joining?
As a member of the Provost’s Undergraduate Student Advisory Board, students will:
- Directly impact the future of the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign community.
- Provide feedback about campus programs, policies, and initiatives.
- Gain leadership and professional experiences.
- Collaborate and engage in open and honest dialogue with students, faculty, and staff administrators from units across campus.

5. What are the requirements to be on the Provost Undergraduate Student Advisory Board?
   a. Be currently enrolled as an undergraduate student at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign for the full 2021-2022 academic year.
   b. Be willing to share opinions about the undergraduate student experience at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign.
